

JOHN KEANAN, BREWER. The Ex-Brewer at Law with the Majority Stockholders of the Brewery. A motion was made before Justice Beach of the Supreme Court yesterday to enjoin proceedings brought by John Keenan and his son-in-law, Augustus T. Docharty, for a voluntary dissolution of the David Jones Brewery Company.

After the death of David Jones, in 1880, his brewery in East Forty-fourth street was conducted by his brother, John Jones, and by J. A. Thayer. In 1884 the company was organized, with a capital of $200,000. Patrick Keenan, who became President, owned 1,200 shares and Keenan 400. Docharty 400. Keenan, who was Vice-President, was unable to attend to the company's affairs, owing to his exile in Canada after the Broadway Railroad franchise exposure.

After Keenan's return he and Docharty wanted to sell their interest to Keenan or to purchase his. Keenan, however, sold his shares to Charles J. James, who is now the holder. On Sept. 8 Keenan, James, and Docharty elected Thomas J. Keenan and Docharty their president and vice-president, respectively. The company was solvent and doing a good business. Since July, 1920, it had done a business of $300,000. Decision was rendered in the Supreme Court yesterday to the effect that the company was not to be dissolved.

The Drovers Savings Bank has brought an action in the Supreme Court against the David Jones Company for a foreclosure of a mortgage of $30,000.

POOLE WANTS $10,000. Johnson Can Have Mrs. Poole's Affection. Suit for $10,000 damages for the alienation of a wife's affection was begun yesterday in the Circuit Court at Newark by Jacob O. Poole, a nephew of Bill Poole, who was killed in a row in this city many years ago, against Edward S. Johnson, who was formerly secretary of the Prudential Insurance Company in Newark. Poole was a builder, and Johnson lived near him on Arch street four years ago. They were each 30 years old, and had been friends from boyhood.

Police married Lizzie Birch, a pretty young woman, whose parents were formerly in the hotel business. Shortly after the marriage Poole went to the hotel and found Lizzie Birch, who he afterward took charge of and ran for two seasons. Johnson took board at the hotel and was paid $200 a month. He had a great deal more than her husband was. It is said he took her out riding every afternoon, and finally took her to the hotel for a month or six weeks.

Police told this story on the stand. Henry B. Marshall, a teller in the hotel, testified that he saw Mrs. Poole attend only in her night dress on the evening and the next morning. He kept a memorandum of what he saw.

The case was adjourned to Monday, because witnesses for the defense had been sent away early under the supposition that the case was not to be called yesterday.

"My Kisses Bring Acids, Bring Again." Capt. Ward of the bridge police has a lady's pocketbook, which was found on the bridge yesterday morning by Roundsman Brophy, and he would like to have the owner call and claim it. Enclosed in the book was this interesting essay in beautiful typewriting, which will doubtless aid in the identification:

Including in kisses a certain acid is not a sentiment to either health or love. Probably 50 to 60 kisses during the day will do you no harm, but not often you kiss, but the manner of doing it is what counts. There are two kinds of kisses, one both because unclean, as it is with all means like kissing, though it may be more expensive, because of the cream, which is used to make it so soft. You should kiss, watch your chance and take all you can.
